Formatting a report APA style

“APA style” refers to rules for publication recommended by the American Psychological Association in its publication manual (American Psychological Association, 2001). These rules provide advice on various issues related to the production of publications. This includes advice on grammar, layout of text and reduction of bias in the use of language.

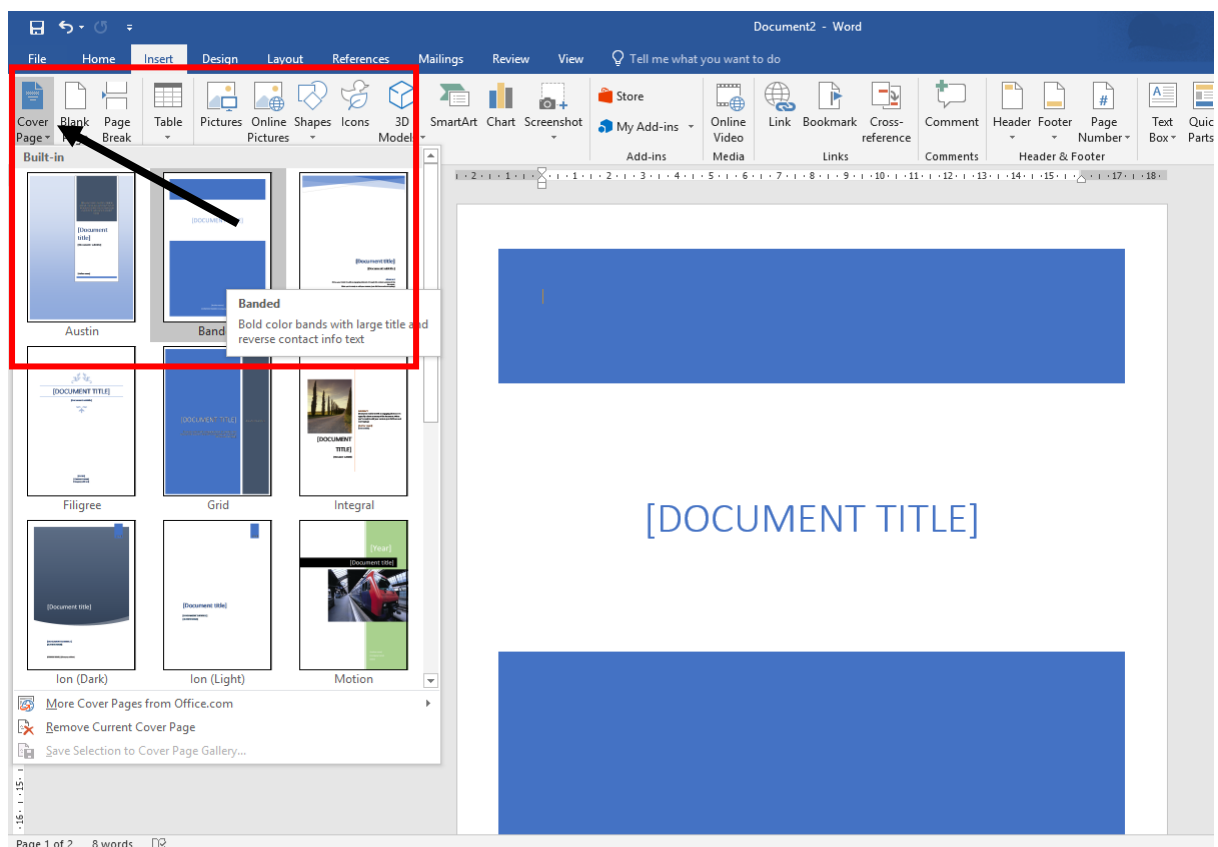

The APA rules on referencing form just part of the style guide. These rules are not just used by psychologists, but by hundreds of publishers in many different subject areas. You are advised to follow the APA standard for referencing since it is one of the most commonly used referencing styles.

The following pages will display the completed formatted report and a step by step walkthrough on how to achieve that format....

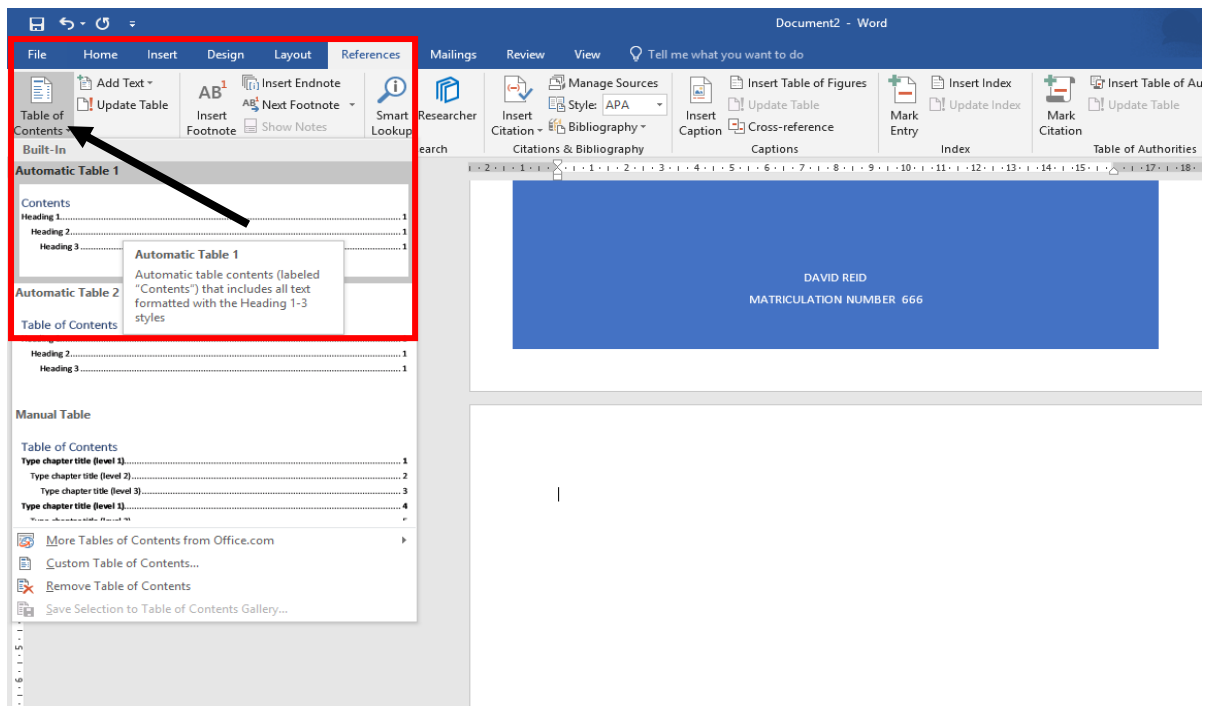

Step 1: Start with a blank page.

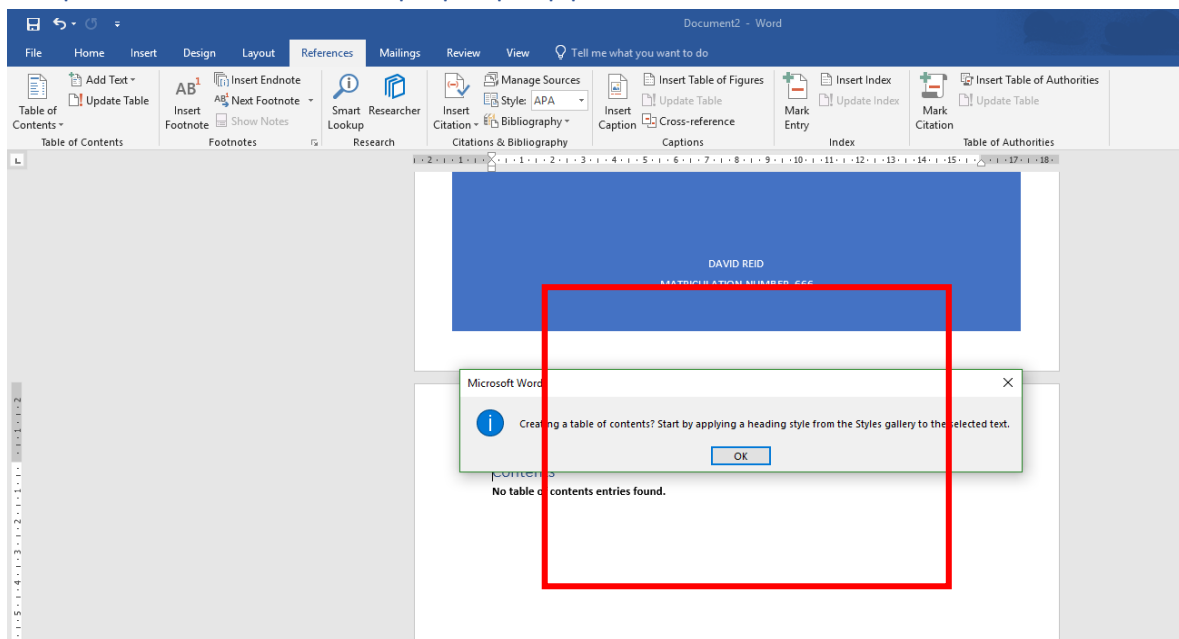

Step 2: Create a cover page. Using the insert tab click on cover page and select a design of your choice by clicking on the item. Input the title of the report, your name and matriculation numb.

Step 3: Create contents Click on the references tab and select the Table of Contents drop down menu, select the desired design, usually the first in the list (Automatic Table 1).

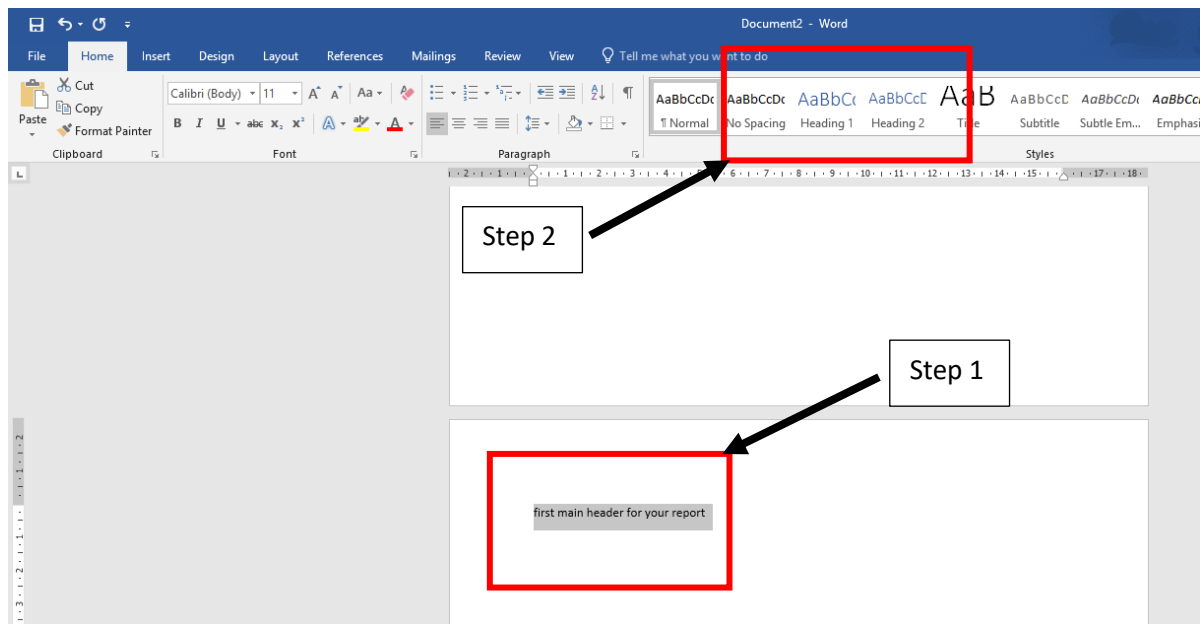

Step 4: Once chosen a pop up appears click OK.

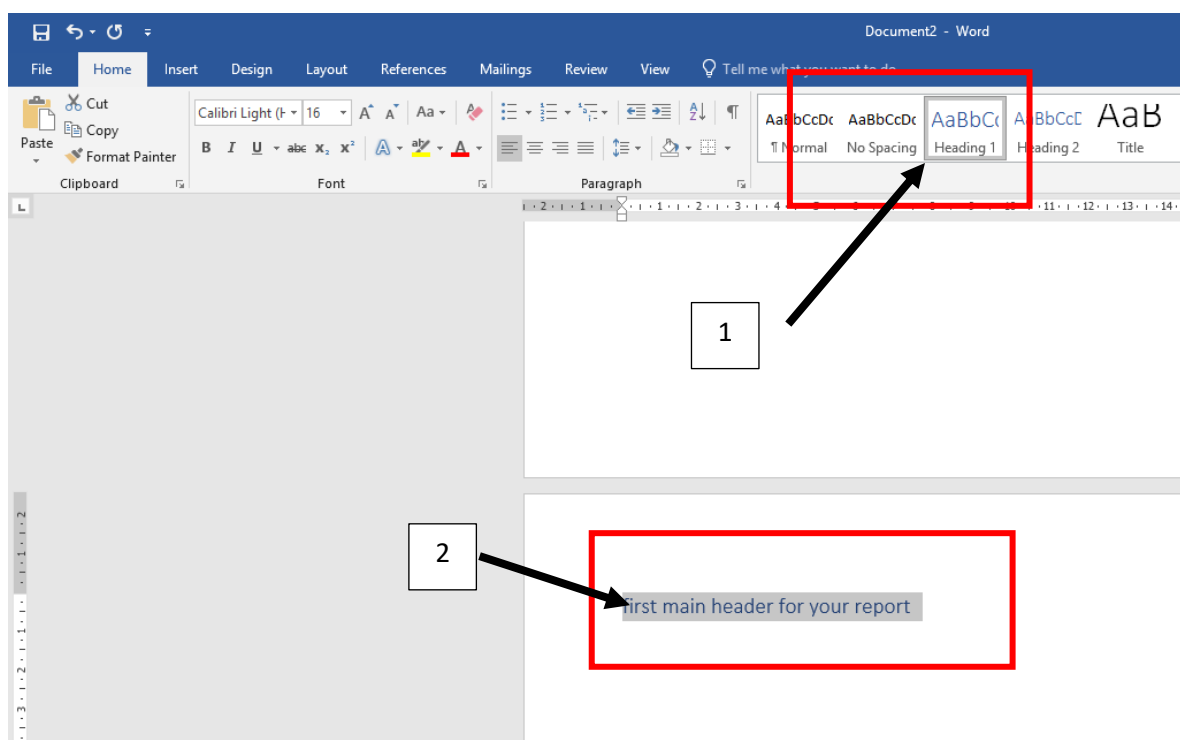

The contents page is now set up.

Step 5: Now it is time to insert headers into the report. Leave the contents page the way it is and move on to a new blank page. Using the insert tab click Blank page.

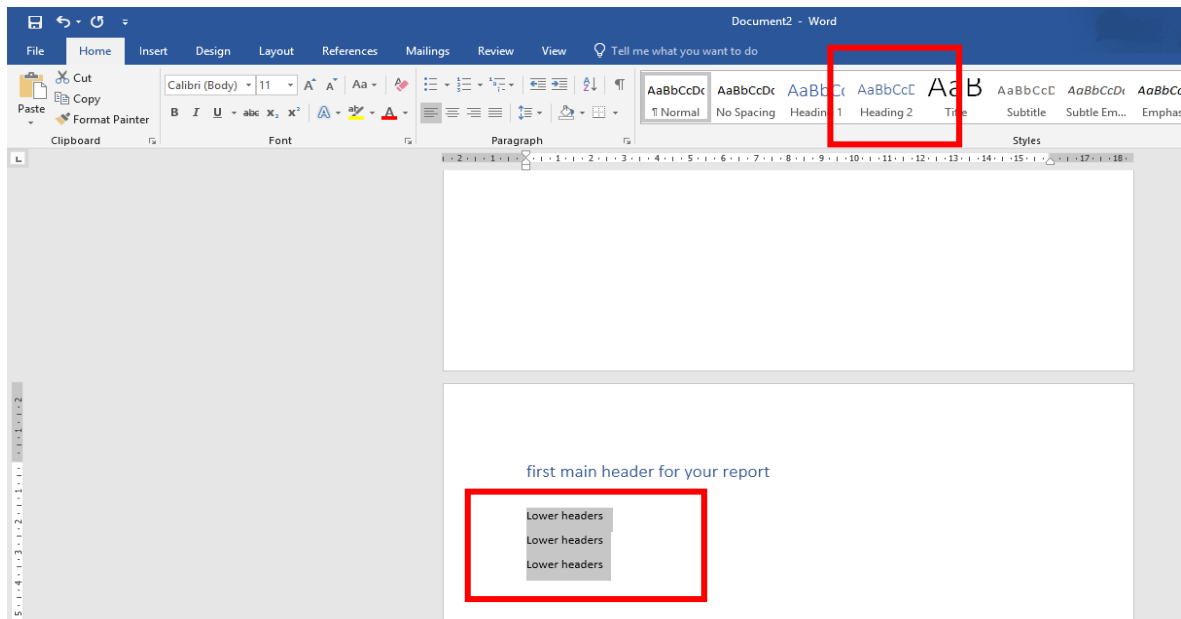

Type the first main header for your report in normal font then highlight it (Step 1). Once written on the page highlight the text and select Heading 1 from the styles bar (Step 2).

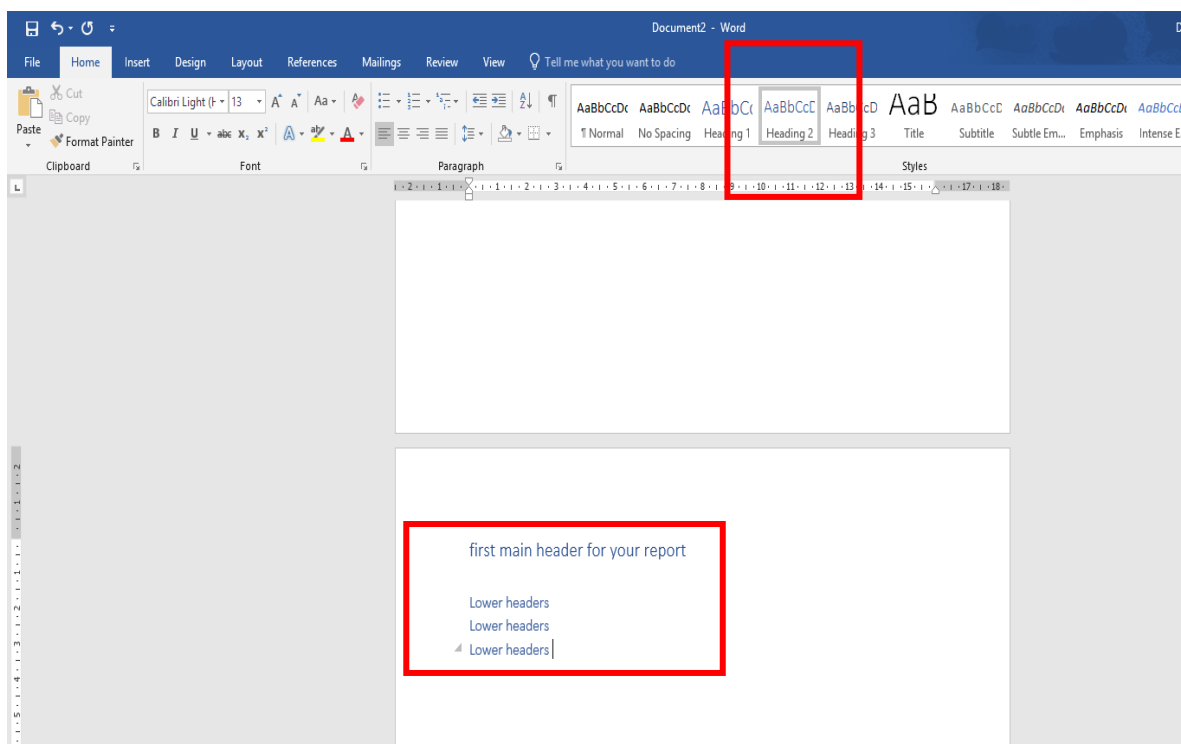

Header 1 has now been applied (1) and is in a blue colour (2).

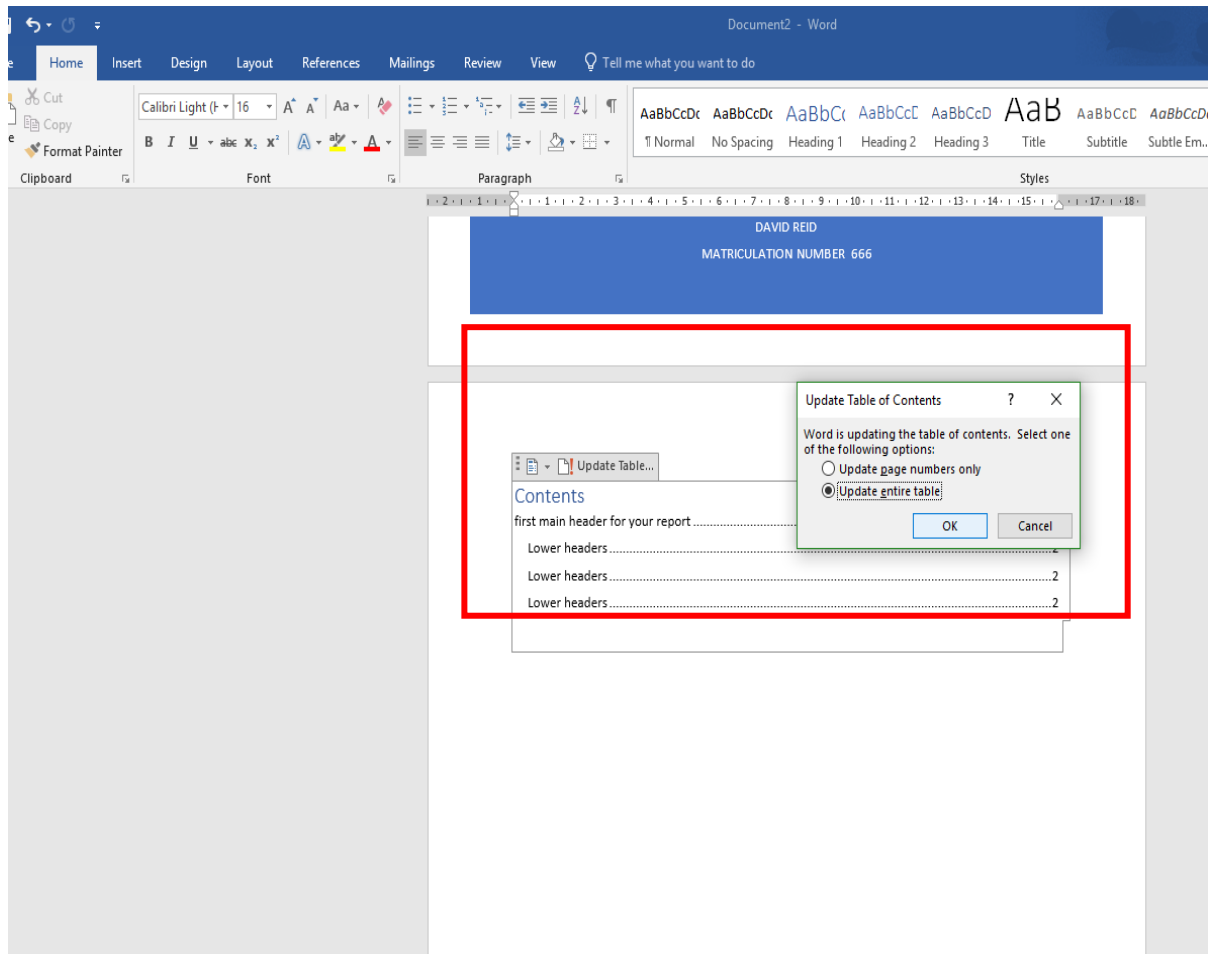

Step 6: Create lower headers Using the same process as above it is time to insert the lower headers that will contain the individual topics in the report, highlight them and select Heading 2.

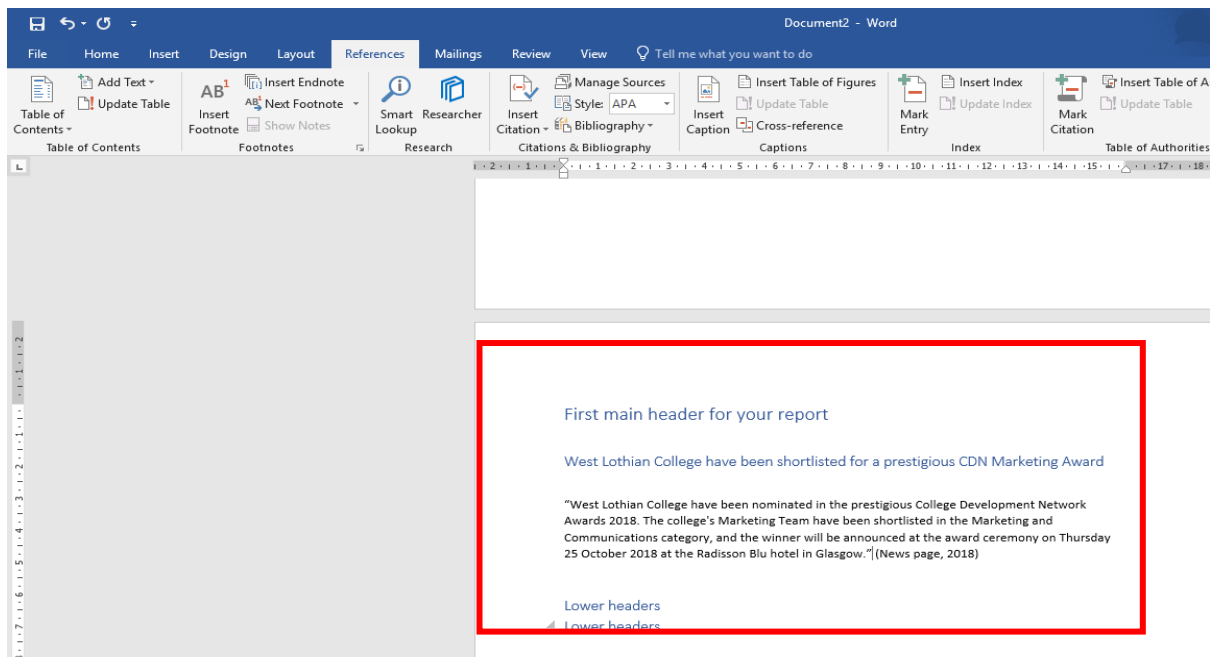

Now there is a main header in blue and three headers of the level 2 headings.

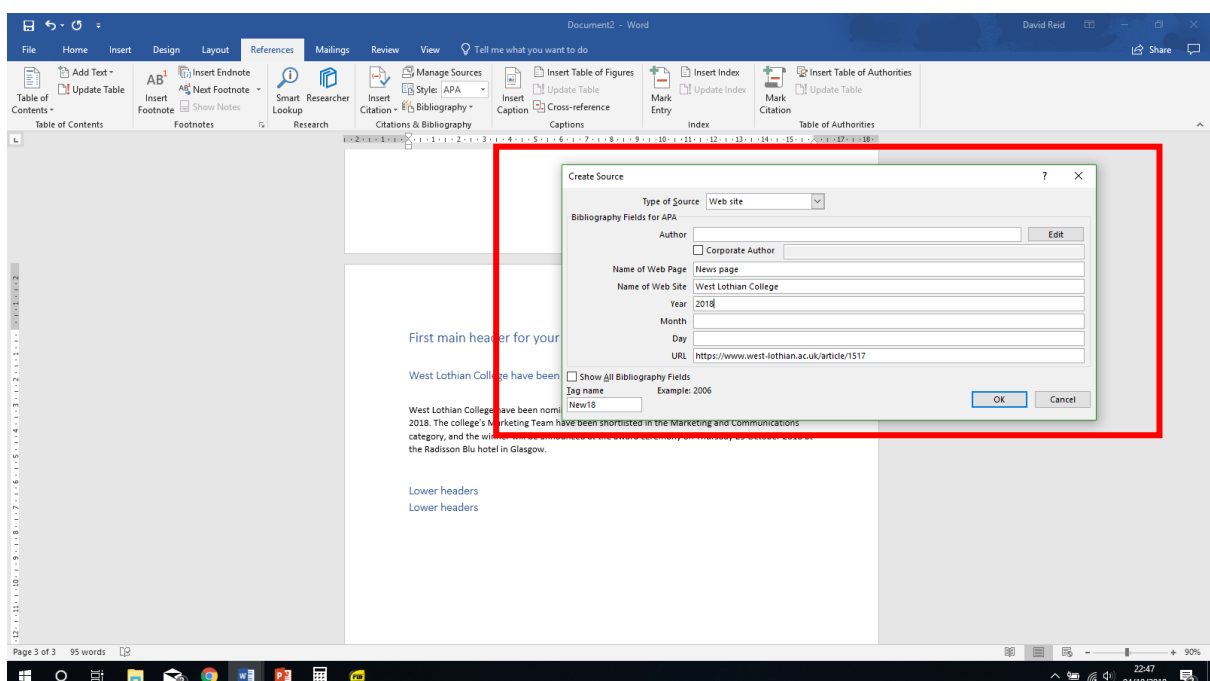

Step 7 Display on contents page: Head back up to the contents page and click on the word Contents an update table pops up choose entire table. A list with the main header and three lower headers will appear.

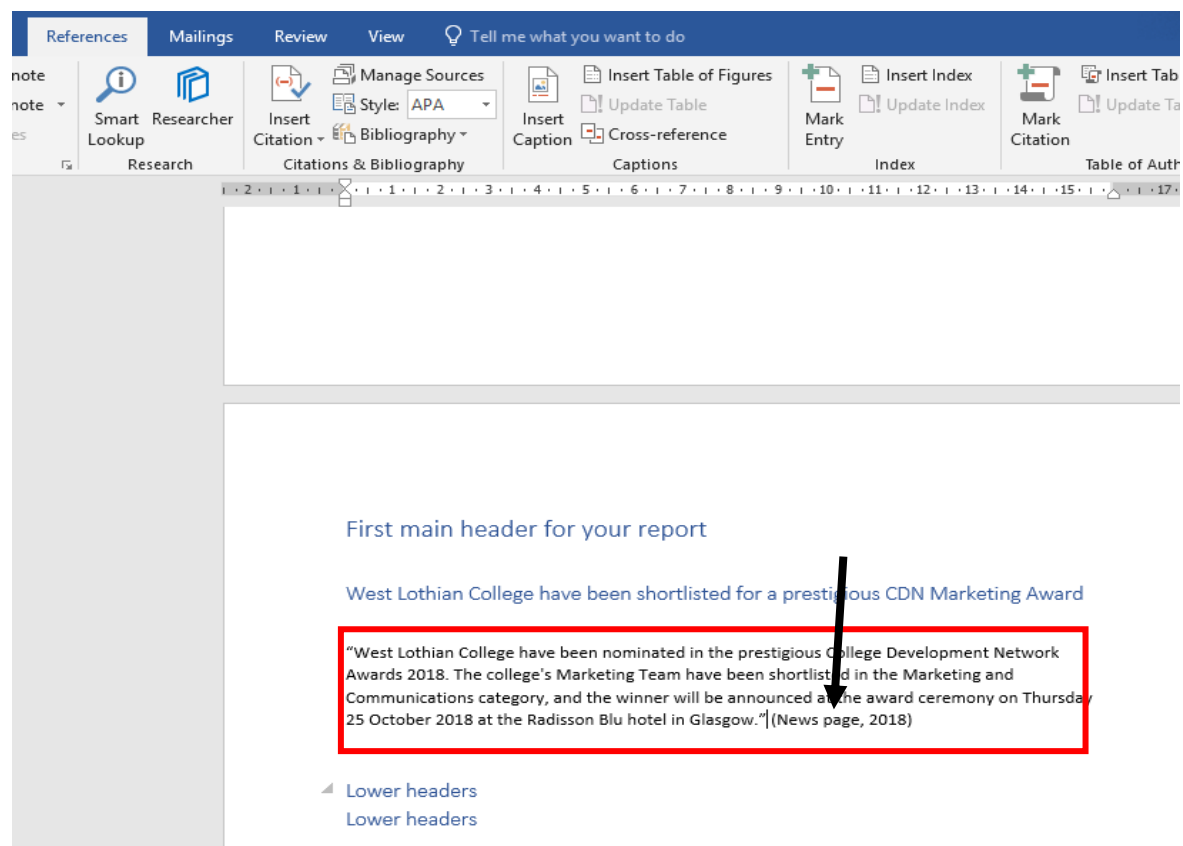

Step 8 adding Citations: Head back down to the first headers 2 list and add text, a short selection from a West Lothian College web site will be used as an example. The header has been changed manually to reflect the information in the paragraph.

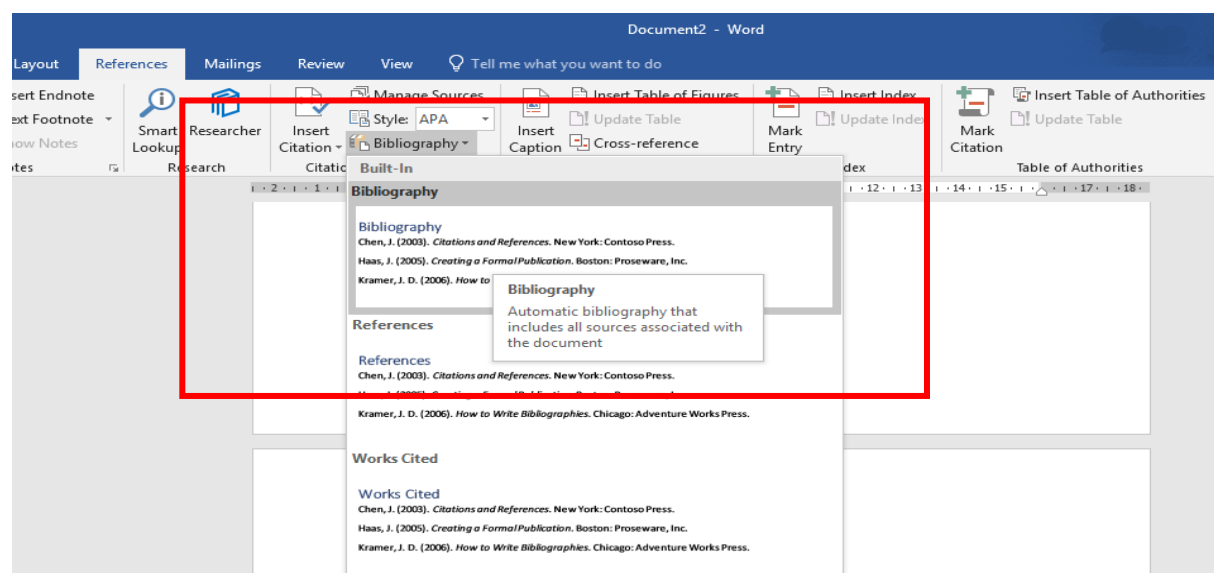

Input Web site information: Click on the references tab, then insert citation drop down and select add new source. In the pop-up box select web site, paste the URL from the web address bar in Chrome, input web page, web site and year.

Once the task of inserting a citation is complete it can be utilised many times for referencing if that exact page is being used to provide more information in the report. Turnitin may require adding quotes to the caption.

Step 9 Adding Bibliography: At the final page of the report create a blank page again, make sure the cursor is positioned on the blank page, go back to references tab and click Bibliography, select the first in the drop-down list.

The Bibliography will now display the citation that had been created earlier.
